SBCTC statement on hate:

The State Building and Construction Trades Council of California represents more than 400,000 workers from every race, religion, nationality and gender. We provide our blue-collar work force with the training and skills that are necessary to support their families in the perpetual struggle to stay in the middle class.

We give our full support to the statement issued today by North America's Building Trades Unions. There is no place in our organization, or our society, for fascists and Nazis whose ideology this nation fought and defeated in World War II. These groups by their nature are opposed to unions and the united efforts of workers. We strongly reject any division of our membership, or of America, by class, race, or religion.
